About Our Entertainment and Media Practice

We focus on helping forward-thinking, entrepreneurial organizations and individuals like you within the entertainment and media industry by providing assurance, tax, participation audit, expert witness and litigation support, and consulting services designed specifically with your needs in mind. Additionally, our dedicated tax team is specifically trained in dealing with complex tax issues for privately held, high-growth entertainment companies. We can work with you to identify tax-planning opportunities that may apply specifically to your business.

Working with Green Hasson Janks gives you access to industry expertise and knowledge and full connectivity to our global network of advisors. Along with expertise from our own International Tax Department, we assist clients by leveraging our world-wide network of independent accounting firms and business advisors located across the United States and in over 100 countries. As our clients become more aggressive players in the global economy, we are able to respond quickly through our HLB International network to help with the success of their ventures.
